Recognising that 670,000 people in England now live with dementia and this number will double within 30 years, this Council commits to becoming a dementia friendly organisation and to leading Gedling towards becoming a dementia friendly community. In doing so, the Council will take an active and lead role with partners to raise awareness about dementia and encourage a responsive and sensitive response, in order to improve the lives of those affected by this disease and the carers who support them.

Proposer: Councillor Jenny Hollingsworth

Seconder: Councillor Roxanne Ellis
